

PRESS RELEASE:

Minneapolis Band Jagged Spiral releases "Days From Evil" CD

CD Release Party: July 11, 2008 at Club Underground, Minneapolis, MN

For Immediate Release:

Minneapolis 'Northern Rock' band, Jagged Spiral is celebrating the CD release of their debut album, "Days From Evil" (Miku Darkly Productions).

Jagged Spiral is: Colin Mallon (guitars), Josh Kattelman (percussion), Conrad Zero (bass and vocals). The band formed in 2005 and created their own genre called "Northern Rock": a dark hybrid of Metal, Rock, and Goth.

Songs and music on "Days From Evil" appeared in the score, title and end credits of the 2007 feature film "Pray For Daylight" by Stone Soup Productions.

"Days From Evil" is a concept album, telling the story of an unnamed hero confronting demons that only he can see. The overall tone of the album defines the band's 'Northern Rock' genre of cool-yet-angry evil, while the songs range from apocalyptic epic metal (Track 5 - Let It Out), to seductive acoustic ballads (Track 2 - Monsters) and gothic grunge (Track 7 - Not Enough Bullets).

The "Days From Evil" CD Release Party will be held at Club Underground in Minneapolis, on Friday, July 11th, 2008. Joining Jagged Spiral will be local bands S.B.I., Sick Machine, and Something To Fear. 21+ Music starts at 9PM, and cover is $5.

Further shows are being planned to promote the album, as well as a North American tour with "Nothing Gained", a female-fronted metal band from England.
